To whom it may concern.

This is a portfolio letter of reference for the above-mentioned company who at present are working extensively in providing staff training to Allied Healthcare Group Ltd., and have been doing so for the last twelve months in an exemplary manner.

Training in all mandatory subjects has been delivered, as well as specialist courses in other areas of healthcare.

From the course evaluation sheets, personal telephone calls, e-mails received, it can be derived that there has been an extremely high level of delivery and presentation.

This has been consistent during the last twelve months, and is testament to both the knowledge and professionalism of Advanced Skills Ltd. trainer's.

The company has since been 'promoted', and is now one of our two 'preferred providers' for the delivery of healthcare training, to a selection of our 108 branches nationwide.

Advanced Skills Training not only assists us in training of our care staff, but also our own in-house trainers as well, having carried out a number of 'Train-the-Trainer' courses at a number of our branches. Further courses are already planned.

I therefore had no hesitation in agreeing to provide this letter of reference, and would suggest that your use of Advanced Skills Training would greatly enhance your own company's reputation and standing.

Yours truly,
